- SHOOTS, STALKS, BLOOMS

Garden Spots was produced on an Artist-in-Residence grant at the Women's Studio Workshop, Rosendale, New York, in June, 1986. The 50 portfolios in the edition are silkscreened on stonehenge paper and include additional hand color work.

Talking Garden and Shoots, Stalks, Blooms open to 30" x 33" and 22" x 48" respectively and are intended to be viewed in any of the modular formats in which they unfold or as wall pieces.

This project is dedicated to the indigenous Indian peoples of this nation in honor of their traditional commitment to the beauty and sacredness of our earth.
